SENATE TRIAL IN IMPEACHMENT MAY BE DELAYED WEEK

Walton Counsel Expected to Ask for Continuance of Case.

POSTPONEMENT POSSIBLE

Nothing Definite Now; Trial
May be Put Off on Petition.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—A possible delay of almost a week in the impeachment trial of Gov. J. C. Walton loomed today as the prediction was made in legislative circles that the senate court of impeachment would consent to a brief continuance should the executive request it when the hearing opens tomorrow.

In such event postponement at least until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week was considered entirely probable.

While there has been no official indication as to what course the governor's counsel will pursue, observers consider it likely that an application for a continuance would be the first move should the court overrule a general demurrer which they expect to file to the 22 charges of official misconduct.

Senate leaders are represented as being desirous of allowing ample time in which to prepare his defense, and therefore would not refuse to permit him a few days of grace. Members of the board of managers of the lower house who are acting as prosecutors, are said to be similarly inclined.

While final arrangements for the trial were being completed today, the house investigation committee was conducting an inquiry into other departments in course of a general impeachment in vestigation.

GRAND MASTERS TO ATTEND MEET

National Supreme Lodge of Grand Masters May be Formed.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Masonic grand masters of the several states assembled here today in general conference for the first time in history to discuss matters that may later result in the formation of a nationally supreme grand lodge of Master Masons.

The grand masters are here to attend the services in Alexandria, Virginia, tomorrow at the corner stone laying of the George Washington memorial temple. They will meet at the invitation of Dr. Mark F. Finley, grand master of the District of Columbia.

At present the grand lodge of each state is supreme in its own jurisdiction. The formation of a national organization for Blue Lodge Masons has been informally discussed for years and the presence of the grand masters in Washington prompted the invitation for a general conference.

While the meeting is not expected to take definite action, steps may be taken to formulate plans which later may result in a national, perhaps international, grand lodge organization.

Settlement Pending on Controversy of Consulate Affairs

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—A settlement of the controversy over the American consulate at Newcastle-on-Tyne has been reached between Foreign Secretary Curzon and American Ambassador Harvey, and according to Mr. Harvey, the consulate will be reopened within a fortnight.

The Newcastle consulate was closed on February 2 last after the British government had withdrawn the exchequers of Fred C. Slater and Vice-Consul Russell M. Brooks on charges that they had attempted to divert passengers from British to American steamship lines by making difficulties for the issuance of visas to passengers not traveling on American boats and further by hinting that the passengers were liable to encounter interference in the United States unless they traveled on American lines.

American Relief Organization to Feed German Lads

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American forces on the Rhine, announced today that plans were being made to feed 2,000,000 German children this winter through the medium of the American Society of Friends.

General Allen, who returned from a visit to Germany last July, declared that "a very grave situation and one which Germany itself is not able to cope with, exists in the former enemy country. He has accepted the chairmanship of the American committee in charge of the campaign which he said had been endorsed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and is being participated in by many nationally known persons.

PRISON VETS TO GET SOLDIER AID

World War Veterans in Prisons of State to be Examined.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—Experts of mental, tubercular and general diseases will examine all former service men confined in Oklahoma prisons with a view of determining, if possible, if any injury received during the world war might have been responsible for the prison sentence, according to the soldier's relief commission.

Men found to be mentally abnormal or suffering from disabilities due to wartime service will be segregated, it is planned, and receive special attention, through establishment of vocational training classes in the institutions. No pardons for the men will be asked, it is announced.

Wisconsin conducted such a survey as that planned in Oklahoma according to C. W. Briles, director of the state board of vocational education at Oklahoma City, with startling results. Among the former soldiers, the examination reports showed that 60 percent were mentally abnormal and that 20 percent were suffering from disabilities received during service.

A complete history of each man's case will be set forth on forms which have been printed for the prison investigation in Oklahoma. Physical examination results, including chest and lung tests, will be recorded for each man, chest and lung inspections are to be made by Dr. C. E. Bates of the Soldiers' Tubercular Sanatorium at Sulphur.

Dental examinations will be conducted by Dr. D. W. Griffin, superintendent of the Central Oklahoma State Hospital at Norman, it was announced. Dr. Griffin, according to the Soldiers' Relief Commission, is considered one of the national authorities on neuro-psychiatric diseases. He intends to be present during part of the examinations and will examine the records of the remaining tests conducted by two assistants.

Four hospitals have been built in the state by the commission created in 1921 by the state legislature, according to Ray O. Weems of Sallisaw, chairman. The institutions are located at Sulphur, Norman, Muskogee and Oklahoma City. The prison survey will be in charge of Leon H. Brown, former adjutant of the state department of the American Legion.

Reading matter for prison institutions where former service men are confined will be under the supervision of Mrs. L. O. Gault of Oklahoma City, who has had extensive experience in prison library work. She will furnish the periodicals.

PAYMENT OF ARCHITECT BEING CONTESTED NOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The payment of an additional $23,000 to Mathew O'Brien, San Francisco architect, for revision of his plans for the government hospital at Livermore, California, to make them accord with the terms of the original contract was disclosed today before the veterans committee.

Director Frank T. Hines of the veterans bureau said payment had been made by Comptroller General McCall over his protest. The sum brought to approximately $97,000 the total O'Brien has received for plans which never have been used.

The original contract with O'Brien provided for plans for a hospital to cost, not to exceed $1,600,000. Upon completion of his plans the lowest bid for the building was $2,100,000.

Dr. Cook Believes It's Doubting World; Oil Stories Now Probed

(By Central Press)
PORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 31.—This is a doubting world for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, best known as an Arctic explorer, but now in the limelight because of the fact that he and 20 co-defendants are on trial in the federal court here charged with misuse of the mails.

Back in 1908 Cook first drew the attention of the doubting world. Coming out of the arctic he announced that he had discovered the north pole. He was acclaimed a hero. For a time the scientific world waited on his words. Then someone doubted him. He failed to produce the necessary proofs.

For several years, however, he lectured on polar conditions. Then five years ago, he went to Texas and abandoned his lecture tours and other work to make a fortune in oil. About a year ago detectives entered his room in a Texas hotel and asked him to explain the presence of a young lady and a bottle of pre-Volstead liquor. The liquor case has not been tried to date.

Then his wife asked him to explain many things—and doubted his word when he tried to laugh them off. She received a divorce decree several months ago. Cook did not appear when the case came up.

As to the present situation Cook and his fellow-defendants are part of 100 indicted last April, charged with fraudulently promoting stock sales, as a result of which, according to the district attorney's office, a large number of persons from different parts of the U. S. were relieved of $200,000.

The charges against Cook are in connection with his handling of the Petroleum producers' association, of which he was the head. He and his associates are charged with perpetrating a fraud by the use of the "merger system." Investors were given their choice between investing "25 percent more" in newly formed companies which were supposed to have taken over the old ones, or of losing their original investment. The few dividends paid, the district attorney's office charges, were paid out of funds so

HOME-COMING TO BACK UP TIGERS

Former Students to Swell
Stands When Tigers
Meet Edmond.

Students who have passed from the halls of East Central, all through the years of its existence, are preparing for the annual trek to Ada next Friday, home-coming day, when the East Central Tigers pace the gridiron with the Edmond teachers in the traditional battle of the football season.

Word has been received by the Alma Mater from every part of the East Central district that the off-springs of the institution will help bear its honor on the gridiron on the greatest intercollegiate game of the season.

As the day for the much heralded battle draws nigh, inquiries from former students increase until the office of the College is swamped with communications from its former sons and daughters. Some are coming from out of the state, while every student of former years living in the near vicinity has served notice that his moral support will be rendered from the stands.

While the sideline preparations are being formulated, Coach Joe Milam is working the Tigers as they have never been tried before. The passing hours of the evening find the Tigers grilling in preparation for the hardest conflict of the season. Few changes will be made in the line up for the Friday game but the few weak spots on the lineup will be strengthened to the extent that no cog in the Tiger line will be a misfit.

Johnson, stellar half back, will be the only man on the Tiger lineup that will not be on the Tiger lineup. Potts, who was handicapped by injuries in the last game will be ready for battle in the Friday game with Edmond.

GARDNER TO BE QUESTIONED BY COUNTY GRAND JURY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—Val Gardner, named in the impeachment charges against Governor Walton as the agent through which an alleged bribe of $6,000 was given the executive by citizens of Tonkawa to insure the approval of a bill appropriating funds for the Oklahoma Preparatory academy at Tonkawa, will testify before the Oklahoma grand jury, it was stated here today from an authoritative source.

Gardner is said to be in Missouri attending a funeral after which he will be questioned by the grand jury.

NO ADMISSION CHARGED TO CARNIVAL SCENES

A false impression about the carnival at the Convention Hall has arisen, according to Ralph Warner, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. There is no charge for admission to the building, including the various carnival stunts and the commercial display. Tonight the admission to the entertainment in the auditorium will be 10, 15 and 25 cents.

It is possible for a person to take in the carnival without spending any money at all. Or he can take in the carnival and by spending a few extra cents see one of the most entertaining events of the week.

The entertainment in the auditorium this evening will consist of high class vaudeville, singing and dancing. This will be followed by a Halloween dance, which is expected to be one of the most interesting events of the season. A fee will be charged couples dancing.

The crowd last evening was much larger than the evening before, and another increase is expected this evening.

SWITZER AND GARRETT ACQUITTED ON CHARGES

(By the Associated Press)
MCLESTER, Oct. 31.—Fred Switzer, former warden of the state penitentiary, was acquitted here of charges of embezzlement on which he was indicted by the Pittsburg county grand jury at a hearing in district court last night.

A. G. Garrett, former deputy warden, was also freed from the four indictments in which he was charged with minor discrepancies in handling prison accounts. Evidence in Garrett's case was held insufficient and a motion to quash the indictment was sustained.

Switzer's arrest grew out of alleged shortages in his accounts but which evidence showed to be a bona fide transaction through which he purchased building material on open account and that a balance of $800 had not yet been settled in full. The balance, however, had been received since he left Mclester. Final adjustment he testified, was only awaiting the correction of an error in the bill.

Negro on Boose Charge.
The county jail harbors only one late violator of the state laws. Will Bruce, a negro, was arrested at Ardmore and returned to Ada by Deputy W. W. Walker, where he will face charges of violation of the liquor laws.

FIRST SLASH ON SALARIES TAKEN

Forty-Nine Employees of Highway Department Lopped off Payroll.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—Forty-nine employees of the state highway department were lopped off the payroll today when Acting Governor M. E. Trapp refused to honor their claims for October salaries. This action was taken upon recommendation of Fred Parkinson, state examiner and inspector, who made an investigation of the department upon Trapp's request.

Salaries of 29 other employees of the "federal truck" bureau of the highway department were being temporarily held up upon request of the house investigating committee.

Claims of 30 employees of the department were approved. Parkinson's examination was being extended to the pay rolls of other departments this afternoon.

The salary of Lem Butler appointed by Gov. J. C. Walton as statistician of the state board of equalization was disallowed upon Parkinson's recommendation. Parkinson reported to the acting governor that the highway department employees whose pay was refused had been listed in the records of the department as "extra help."

Dissolution Asked for Salvation Army by Waste Paper Firm

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Dissolution of the Salvation Army on the ground that it is engaged unlawfully in the waste paper business is sought at a hearing before Deputy Attorney General John J. Dwyer by commercial waste paper dealers. They charge that the Salvation army through cheap labor recruited from the ranks of the unemployed for whom it cares is able to overbid them in buying waste paper and underbidding them in selling it.

The attorney general was asked to institute an action to revoke the charter of the Army because "in carrying on a waste paper business it violated the provisions of the law under which it was created and abused the privileges conferred upon it as a religious and charitable agency."

Armistice Day Not to be Observed by War Veterans Here

Unless last-minute arrangements are outlined, ex-service men of Pontotoc county will have no set program or no outlined festivities for the observance of Armistice Day, November 11, the fifth anniversary of the closing of the world war.

The veterans of Pontotoc county, who five years from the date, had been in the midst of turmoil of war, will spend a quiet day on the anniversary date of the signing of the armistice.

As far as could be learned, no effort will be made on the part of Ada merchants to celebrate the Monday following Armistice Day. It has been intimated that stores will not cease activity for the day.

The Norman Howard post, American Legion will probably take a part as a body in the joint services on November 11 at the Convention hall.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS WINTER PROBLEM

State Labor Commissioner says
Winter Months to Present
Serious Situation.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—Unemployment is expected to present a serious problem in Oklahoma during the approaching winter, according to Claude E. Connally, state labor commissioner. Conditions reported at harvest time and the present curtailment of oil production are largely responsible for the unfavorable outlook, he said.

"Oklahoma, strictly speaking, is considered an agricultural state," Connally explained. "Excessive rains have delayed cotton picking and thereby people depending on that labor have been forced to live on their savings or at the expense of someone else. In some instances it has taken all their previous earnings to pay for groceries, living and other expenses."

Remuneration received for cotton picking work will hardly enable a man supporting a family to save funds for tiding him over during the ensuing season of depression, the commissioner says. Wages offered to cotton pickers vary from $1.25 to $2, depending on the pressing demand for pickers. Huts or tents are usually furnished but pickers are, in most instances, expected to board themselves.

"A large number of oil industry workers will find themselves without employment this winter if present conditions in the oil fields of the state continue," Commissioner Connally predicted. Many petroleum workers have already sought employment in other industries, he said, and some of them may never return to the oil fields.

"Many other workers connected in some way with oil activity own their own homes and are remaining idle in hopes that conditions will improve in their work."

"Unemployment is everybody's problem. People have to live and idleness enforced or otherwise, throws them upon the mercies of the community. Depressed conditions in one community affect other districts which have business relations there."

Unemployment during the winter of 1923-24 will not result in such serious problems as were presented during 1921-1922, if the labor commissioner's information is correct. Two years ago lack of employment in Oklahoma was one of the state's most urgent problems. No very serious unemployment situation existed last year, he said.

"Unemployment insurance of municipal work. Where improvements are needed, elections should be held and bonds voted for construction work of all kinds," Connally concluded.

ASKS NEW PROBE IN BANK FAILURE

Speakman Suggests Attorney
General Uncover Needed
Testimony.

(By the Associated Press)
OKMULGEE, Oct. 31.—An appeal to Acting Governor Trapp to direct the attorney general to come to this city and aid in securing evidence against defendants indicted by the grand jury here 18 months ago in connection with failure of state banks, was made last night by Judge Fred A. Speakman in a letter to the executive.

In his letter the judge recited that he was compelled yesterday to sustain a demurrer upon application of defendant J. H. Rebold charged with accepting deposits in the alleged insolvent Guaranty State bank on his ground that the evidence was in sufficient.

"The county attorney here has told me he will have nothing more to do with six pending indictments, three more against Rebold and three against J. P. Cook charged jointly with accepting deposits in the alleged insolvent institution."

"He says he has produced all the evidence he is able to. It is my information that probably the attorney general or the attorney for the banking department can secure more evidence in this case than the county attorney was able to do."

It developed at the trial of Rebold yesterday that the note register of the Guaranty State Bank, sold to the Bank of Commerce 10 months before the latter institution failed, could not be found. Attorneys for the prosecution and defense declared their efforts to find the register proved futile.

Unfavorable Weather Has Bad Effect on Cotton Crop, Shown

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—A weekly report on weather and crop conditions issued by the department of agriculture described the condition of the cotton crop as follows:

"Unfavorable temperatures prevailing over eastern states of the cotton belt and in the western states there was much cloudy, rainy weather. Picking is nearly completed in all districts except in the northern states of the belt, principally in Oklahoma and western and northern Texas. In Oklahoma on account of wet weather cotton is rotting and sprouting in the bolls which are opening slowly and picking is delayed."

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Of all the figures in the moving picture industry today in this country, I venture to state that none has our sympathetic interest as has Mrs. Wallace Reid. It is not only that she is the young and lovely widow of one of our most universally loved screen stars, but her brave fight to stamp out the drug evil which was largely responsible for the death of Wallace Reid has made her a figure of national, if not international, interest.

She was in Cleveland, O., recently, making public appearances with the showing of her picture of the dope traffic, "Human Wreckage." I saw her first at her hotel. My first impression of her was a mass of curly red hair and beautifully rounded white arms. The comment that leaped to my mind was, "She is one of the few women who can successfully wear sleeveless frocks." As a matter of fact, her simple black frock was not sleeveless. It had long, kimono sleeves of georgette or other thin material but they were slit to the shoulder.

Then a pair of earnest brown eyes looked at me and a low, clear voice spoke, and the interview was on. As Dorothy Davenport Mrs. Reid worked in pictures for a number of years beginning when she was fourteen. Shortly before the birth of little Bill she stopped work and never went back until this picture was made after the death of her husband.

Her little son, Bill, was with her. He is six years old—a rather shy little fellow and looks more like his father than his mother. I was also shown the most adorable pictures of the little adopted daughter, Betty. "It is four weeks since we have seen her," sighed Mrs. Reid. "It seems like seven years."

Later I saw "Human Wreckage" and heard Mrs. Reid speak. She is a good speaker. Her voice gives the impression of being low but carries well and her words are well chosen and appealing. Her speech is not at all sensational—quite the contrary. She tells the extent of the dope evil in this country—some 1,000,000 victims—also of remedial measures that are being taken and appeals to her audience.

The picture makes a gripping appeal, and after seeing it and realizing what it must have meant to her to act the part of a wife trying to save her husband from the habit that is ruining him after what she had gone through in the illness and death of her husband, I said to her, "Mrs. Reid, you are the bravest woman I have ever known." And she answered, "It was easier than not having anything to do."

As to Mrs. Reid's future, she may return to the screen but there is nothing definite. She acts well and looks well on the screen, although hers is the physical type of beauty to which the screen does not do full justice. And these personal appearances will undoubtedly net her thousands of friends all over the country who will be anxious to see her in another picture.

RICH HEIRLOOMS

Former Occupiers Bequeath in Departure Rich Gifts for City.

(By the Associated Press)
CORFU, Oct. 31.—This island is the rich heir of great powers, which were in their day the masters of the world. There were the ancient Greeks, the Romans, the Venetians, the French under Napoleon and finally, the British. All have left their valuable heirlooms but the most outstanding is that of the Venetians, the French and the British. The picturesque old firt of Corfu is the work of the Venetians. Situated on a high promontory, literally imposing itself into the sea, the fort dominates the entrance to the harbor. In these days, it cannot be considered as a fort at all because of its obsolescence. It does not even mount a single gun. Huge bastions flank its sides and its walls present an overpowering spectacle because of their ponderous appearance. The winged lion of St. Mark is to be found everywhere about it. Today, this fort is a veritable town in itself, housing 6,000 Anatolian refugees, fourteen of whom were killed in the recent bombardment of the town by the Italians. Shellholes from it can be seen in several places.

The bit of France in Corfu is the colonnaded row of buildings facing the fort. There is a spacious park between the colonnades and fort and this is the favorite evening promenade of the Corfiotes, as the townspeople are called. The colonnades are on the style of the Palais Royal in Paris. Their presence here gives the appearance of Corfu's being a much bigger place. They were built by Napoleon in 1807.

The British occupation, which lasted from 1815 to 1863, was noted for the utilitarian character of its endowments to the island. The British built all the roads, constructed the water system for the city of Corfu which is the one used today, and built the huge royal palace, now adopted as the palace of the Greek ruling sovereign whenever he visits the island. The British further extended their beneficence by building all the wharves which line the harbor. There is an English church here and it bears this inscription:

"In this building, formerly Parliament House, the union of the Ionian Islands with the Kingdom of Greece by the will of the Ionian people and with the consent of the protecting power, Great Britain, was voted by the Ionian Parliament on the 23rd September, 1863."

America Leads World as Fur Traders, Records Now Show.

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—St. Louis which was one of the first fur trading posts in America, bases its claim of being the raw fur market of the world primarily on its central location.

Virtually at the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers trappers a century and a half ago paddled down these natural carriers with their packs of pelts to dispose of them in St. Louis. It was at this time that Pierre Laclede established the first trading post in this vicinity, and one of the chief commodities it handled was furs. On establishing the post Laclede expressed the opinion that the site might become a "right considerable settlement." A granite boulder at the foot of Market Street here marks the spot where the post was established.

Although the largest fur sales were held in London for many years, St. Louis never lost its prominence as a fur market, and with the outbreak of the world war the sales swung back to the American city.

Sixty percent of the raw furs of the United States are disposed of in St. Louis, according to P. B. Fouke, prominent local fur dealer. Mr. Fouke estimates that local dealers pay $15,000,000 to trappers for the four months' work every year.

In addition to the sale of American furs all through the winter several millions of dollars of pelts are sold at the semi-annual public auctions, which are attended by buyers from all parts of the world. The sale of government skins usually precedes these sales. Every variety of fur from the lowly house cat to the expensive Russian sable is offered at the auctions.

HOSPITAL BUILDINGS

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31.—All phases of hospital management will be discussed by superintendents, trustees, nurses, architects and manufacturers of hospital equipment at the twenty-fifth annual conference of the American Hospital association which opens here tomorrow for five days. Registration was more than 3,000 at the Atlantic City conference last year, and the more extended education exhibits this year are expected to attract a larger attendance.

Hospital construction, mechanical and scientific equipment, domestic management, food values, education of nurses, how to balance costs of operation and investment of hospital trust funds, will be among the specialized subjects discussed according to Dr. A. R. Warner, Chicago, secretary of the association. Sixty-seven speakers are on the program from the United States and Canada, which will be presided over by Asa S. Bacon, superintendent of the Presbyterian hospital of Chicago, president.

Mr. Warner estimates the total value of hospital buildings and grounds in the United States in excess of $1,800,000,000 and the total expenditure annually for maintenance of 6,000 hospitals at approximately $525,000,000. A sum of $350,000,000, he states, will be spent during the year for new buildings and equipment.

Oklahoma has proved its taste!

I knew it would; I felt certain sure that when Oklahoma folks realized they were not getting Kellogg's Corn Flakes—and realized what they were missing—sales would go steadily up and up!

And, they have! Once folks get the extra-flavor, extra-crispness and extra-substantial flakes that have made Kellogg's Corn Flakes the largest selling ready-to-eat cereal in the world, they KNOW that they never before knew how good corn flakes could be!

This is just the time to start eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

Oklahoma also buys great quantities of our Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, and Kellogg's Shredded Whole-wheat KRUN-BLES.

ATLANTA, Oct. 31.—Reading of the deposition of the cashier of the Imperial palace was continued today at the hearing in Fulton county court in the suit of H. N. The plaintiffs are expected to consume the day in reading depositions and possibly part of tomorrow and that after they complete their testimony the defendants are expected to introduce a number of affidavits.

Rangers' History Full of Romance.

The Texas Rangers were organized in 1832 and bore the brunt of the conflict when Texas separated from Mexico. Later they protected the frontier from the Indians and since have protected the border.

Along in the '70's and '80's cattle rustling became rife. Whole herds were stolen. So the men were chosen for their absolute fearlessness and carried terror to the outlaws. They were the real gun-fighting men of the world.

Davy Crockett and other heroes of the Alamo were Rangers. Capt. McNelly's famous band of forty alone made 2,000 arrests besides killing many of the dangerous thieves.

"The Lone Star Ranger," the Zane Grey story in which William Fox has starred Tom Mix deals with the interesting life of these plainwatchmen. It comes to the American theatre on Thursday.

THAVIU BAND PROGRAM WELL RECEIVED HERE

Music lovers of Ada were afforded with a rare treat Tuesday evening at the Convention Hall when Thaviu's band and opera and ballet entertainers responded to the generous applause of the capacity audience.

In connection with the Carnival Week program of the Chamber of Commerce, the gifted musicians were secured as a special feature for the week of entertainment.

Seldom has Ada music lovers been afforded such a rare bounty of art as was loosed in the selections rendered by Thaviu's band. Taking a general program of operatic selection with a mixture of popular and martial numbers, the renditions of the Thaviu band found the unanimous applause in the musical being of Ada patrons. Thaviu's band selections were met with a continuous round of applause. Every instrument was fondled by an artist and the combination proved exceptional in the numbers offered.

The voice numbers rendered by opera singers proved a rare treat for Ada patrons. Interpretative dances proved the delight of the audience, the ballet troupe receiving the hearty approval of the audience.

The program was given a unanimous endorsement by all who attended.

RESTAURANT MAN DIDN'T EAT HIS OWN FOOD

"It's pretty tough for a restaurant man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't bloat me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last May's Wonderful Remedy, and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man." BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ABUNDANT PARDON:—Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55:7.

FIXING RESPONSIBILITIES.

Senator John Golobie of the Oklahoma Register, who represents Guthrie in the state senate, publishes a very partisan indictment against the democrats in a recent issue. Senator Golobie suggests that the democratic party ought to go into liquidation. We are rather surprised that John should write in this vein. He was a member of the senate two and a half years ago when the republicans held control in the house and he knows just what a complete mess his party made of things. We are not attempting to defend the democratic party for its responsibility growing out of the election of Walton for governor. The party cannot be defended on that ground. It is to blame for Walton's election and it is perfectly right that it should bear the responsibility, but it is not alone in political sinning. Two and a half years ago the republicans controlled the lower house of representatives and we have yet to meet a republican, even though he was a member of that body who has not unhesitatingly condemned the actions of the republican house in most scathing terms. The republican party cannot escape its responsibilities and it can offer no excuses. It gave the state an example of the best it had and the best was unspeakably bad.—Oklmulgee Democrat

WALTON DESERTERS DENOUNCED.

Frank Thompson, who has conducted the Walton press bureau at Oklahoma City since the beginning of the present administration is out with a bulletin in which he expresses the bitterness of his soul toward "human rats and jackals", who after partaking of Walton's bounty as long as he had anything to give are now numbered among his opponents. Among these he includes members of the legislature of whom he says: "His colonels deserted him in the house, some of them voting 'yes' upon every charge of impeachment, with a secret service commission yet warm in their pocket, a permit to carry a gun in their possession and a fat fee from pardon and parole activities in their bank account."

As we see it favors granted house members should have no influence on their votes. Walton's probable guilt or innocence is the only thing they could honestly consider under their oath of office and it is neither to their credit nor to that of Walton that such methods have been resorted to bind them to him.

On the other hand, Walton is no doubt suffering from the ingratitude of many appointees and recipients of favors outside of the legislature. They are the fair weather type who think only of themselves and would as soon be in one band wagon as another.

However, Mr. Thompson is right when he insists that the investigation go forward and not stop with Walton. The people want the facts about all public servants and we hope they will be brought out, whether they are gratifying or otherwise.

When one visits cities in other states, cities that grew in a hap hazard fashion from villages, and notes their narrow crooked streets often only three or four blocks in length and named in such a manner that one has no idea of their location when he hears them mentioned, he appreciates the well laid out towns of Oklahoma with broad streets running the entire length of a city and so named and numbered that a stranger can locate any spot within a few minutes. The verses explaining how a certain winding street in Boston followed the course of a path that came into existence when cows and then men followed a course first trodden by the wobbly legs of a newborn calf describes the situation pretty well in these old places. That was before Oklahomans set the example of laying out the streets and then building. We do not have the problem of widening our streets by tearing down several feet of big buildings as they have to do in some of the older places that have grown into cities. An avenue in Oklahoma means what it says.

Occasionally it is hinted that perhaps the legislature will soon put the soft pedal on investigations fearing that too much exposure may injure the chances of the Democratic party in the election of next year. As we see it to cover up anything would be little short of suicide. If a general cleanup is made without fear or favor it will be the strongest bid for public confidence that the party could make. By all means turn on the searchlight and if there is one who cannot stand its glare it is time he was given his walking papers. The people are so thoroughly disgusted with corruption that unless it is cleaned out the dominant party will have no argument to offer in an appeal for a continuance of its power.

As the Dearborn Independent sees it a political party is born of some ideal and then falls into the hands of the politicians who are more interested in offices than ideals. Perhaps it has in mind the proposed third party to be headed by Henry Ford. If such is the case Henry may have a hard time in keeping out the politicians if he succeeds in building up a party on his ideals.

HALLOWE'EN WITCHERY

Co-operation of capital and labor to prevent delay in delivery of material and in providing labor for the construction of hospitals to care for disabled war veterans has been obtained by John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, from Elliott F. Goodwin, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and John Dolin, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

Following receipt of reports from legion officials that hospital construction in various parts of the country was being held up by the failure of contractors to deliver materials and by the difficulty of obtaining laborers, the legion leader has conducted an investigation of the situation. The Legion will urge that priority be given to hospital construction in as much as the number of cases of disabled veterans requiring treatment is increasing rapidly.

Cooperation of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor will be given to the national children's home project of the American Legion. This service, which means eventual care for dependent sons and daughters of former service men and women is a consideration which is conceded by the veterans as one that in years will approximate care of men disabled by war service.

Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the bureau, has tendered the aid of the department to George A. Withers, chairman of the American Legion's national committee on children's homes, and to representatives of states, which, through the legion are fostering similar movements. Miss Abbott recently paid a visit to Europe where she made a careful survey of the systems of England, Belgium and France, in the care of children orphaned by the war, and declares that the situation in this country is better because of smaller number of orphans and our greater resources, although excellent provision has been made on the continent for the welfare of these children.

The American Legion at their National Convention held in San Francisco, California, October 15th to 19th, elected as their National Commander for the coming year, John R. Quinn, of Fresno, California.

The new Commander was captain of an artillery battery during the World War, but at the time of election to his new office, Quinn was operating his ranch near Fresno. The new Legion head has already made preparations to move his residence to Indianapolis, Ind., so that he may give his personal attention to the affairs and management of National Legion Headquarters. Christy Mathewson does not forget. When the most famous pitcher of baseball history was winning his fight against tuberculosis at Soranac Lake he became a member of Saranac Post of the American Legion, and he became a friend of the scores of other service men of the World War, who like himself were struggling to throw off disease and get back to every-day life. When Christy Mathewson recovered his health and became president of the Boston Braves, he carried with him back into active baseball a desire to do something to help his fellow sufferers. And now he has done something.

Mathewson helped the Massachusetts department of the Legion arrange a benefit baseball game between the Boston Braves and the Pittsburgh Pirates, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of tuberculous veterans. This game added $1,000 to the treasury of Matty's own post and yielded almost another thousand dollars which the Massachusetts department has set aside as a permanent tuberculous patient fund.

The Massachusetts department hopes that it can make a benefit game by major league teams an annual event.

"Stay in There Cow Hand." That is the first line on the poster for the American Legion celebration in Tahlequah, November 12, 1923, at which time a whole day of thrills is promised all who come here. It will be remembered that the American Legion of Tahlequah does not disappoint the people on this great occasion, and the boys are expecting a record breaking attendance.

In the morning there will be a big parade, good speaking and music by the Legion band. In the afternoon, there will be roping, riding bull dogging and various western stunts. At night there will be an old time square dance on the new concrete pavement, which will be the biggest stunt ever pulled in the state.

Prizes for ropers: $75.00 for first $50.00 second and $25.00 third. There will be an entrance fee of $10.00 charged, and all ropers must register by 1 p. m. at Registration Booth in Capitol Square. The Roping Committee is H. E. Chandler, Bob Alberty and B. O. Kirkwood.

The Skiatook American Legion Post No. 131 at a called meeting elected officers for the coming year. A large number of the members were present at the election and showed much interest and enthusiasm in the plans for the coming year.

The Poteau Post of the American Legion installed a radio set in its new quarters to receive the Convention news from San Francisco. The instrument was tuned in on WJX at 8:05 Eastern time, or 7:05 Western Standard, the time here on the last day of the convention. All ex-service men were invited to get the early returns.

Hugo Post of the American Legion is planning a big Armistice Day celebration according to Otis R. Henry, post commander. It will be in the form of a rodeo and will have as features a barbecue and a sham battle. The merchants of Hugo have guaranteed the Legion $1600.00 with which to stage the celebration.

GOLFERS REFUTE DOCTOR'S ORDERS

Warning That Middle-Aged Men Should Discard Golf Turned Down.

(By the Associated Press)

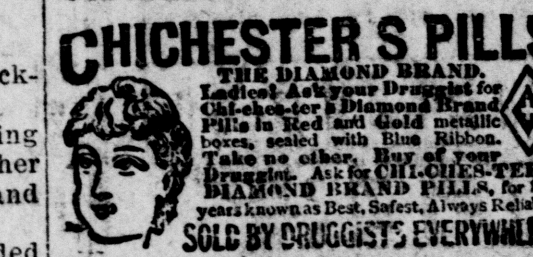

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—The warning of London physicians that persons 50 years old or more are endangering their lives by playing golf is scoffed at by Cleveland's "Indian Scouts" foursome, believed to be one of the oldest active quartets in the world, who may be seen regularly on the golf links here. Their combined age is 227 years. None of them started playing golf until he was past the half century mark.

The foursome is composed of Charles W. Burrows, 74; G. T. McIntosh, 75; J. W. Webb, 69, and A. W. Neale, 59. All are prominent business men here and may be seen on the links "every Saturday and a couple or three times a week," as one of them put it.

When they are "on their game" the foursome play in the low eighties or nineties. They have been playing together for about 12 years.

"I don't know of any pastime more invigorating for a man between the ages of 60 and 80," Mr. Burrows said. "Of course a man who allows his muscles to become soft and flabby from lack of exercise, smoking, overeating and drinking and then goes out on the course and overtaxes his strength is in danger, but moderate golf means health for a man past 50 who keeps himself in condition."

"Walking around the course by yourself or even with three friends would be too monotonous. Playing golf, you exert yourself for an instant with a stroke drive and then you rest while the others tee off."

"Golf holds your interest. You're continually trying to better your game. You forget the poor shots and try to remember some of the good ones. The four of us play about the same game, but we're continually trying to beat each other, and that's where a lot of the fun comes in."

"Men of our age can't play tennis or baseball because these games are too strenuous. We're satisfied with golf, despite the English doctor's warning, and I guess we'll stick to it."

INTER-STATE DOCTORS SPECIALISTS

Chronic, Nervous and Blood Diseases

120 1/2 East Main Street Shawnee, Oklahoma
Office hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., 7 to 8 p. m.

The Inter-State Doctors who have been established in Muskogee, Tulsa and other Oklahoma cities for more than six years have decided to open permanent offices in Shawnee.

They have had many patients from Shawnee and vicinity. They have hundreds of testimonials on file from reputable citizens of Oklahoma and surrounding states.

All chronic diseases are traceable to a starting point. The sufferer generally does not notice the stealthy encroachment at first. Possibly a slight stomach trouble or a weak, faint or dizzy feeling which is neglected and looked upon as a something which will wear off. But in the course of time this slight stomach trouble jumps over to the liver and then the heart becomes weakened from overwork, the breathing becomes labored and the lungs are whipped into the front line trenches until reinforcements can arrive. The body at this stage is fighting desperately in defense of its life against a deadly enemy—chronic disease which challenges the right of the body to live.

The Inter-State Doctors who have their Shawnee offices at 120 1/2 East Main street, are treating many people who have chronic diseases.

They have made a careful study of all such conditions, and are using methods of their own with the proper selection of agents suited to each case.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION IS FREE.
Many who had lost hopes are now recovering their lost health by the successful treatments of these doctors.

The Shawnee offices are located up stairs over Quality Drug Store, 120 1/2 East Main street. Office hours 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m., 7 to 8 p. m., Sundays 10 to 12 only.

CALL COTTON EXPERTS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

(By the Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 30.—Plans for obtaining uniform laws on cotton production, warehousing, rural credits and standardization of farm products in southern states will be outlined at a conference to be held at some southern city the latter part of November. Call for the conference has been made by Charles E. Baughman, Texas commissioner of markets and warehouses, who proposes the meeting.

Invitations have been sent by Commissioner Baughman to governors and agricultural officials of 15 states, and officials of a dozen states have signified their intention of attending. Mr. Baughman has brought together information regarding conditions in the various states on production of cotton and other crops, and this will be presented to the conference as a basis for working out uniform laws. He proposes that at the close of the conference an association on uniform agricultural laws be organized the primary purpose of which will be to carry into effect the proposals of the conference. Laws covering different phases of agricultural and marketing problems will be worked out and presented to legislatures for passage.

"Cooperation between the states interested in a common industry must be brought about before agriculture can be placed on a paying basis," according to Mr. Baughman. "We need uniform laws in the southern states as a means of obtaining greater efficiency in growing and marketing crops and to insure greater stability in prices. The states expected at the conference are: Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia and Texas."

State Universities to Confer.

(By the Associated Press)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 31.—The making of school budgets and the helpful use of information developed in the investigation of common school problems, will be among the subjects discussed at the meeting of the National Association of State Universities. It is recognized that the application of dollars to the needs of schools is of growing importance.

The problems of state schools are increasing, and at the same time they are very similar. The vastness of the present day demand for education is the warrant for some plan by which one investigation will help solve the problems common to all.

HEALTH WORKERS STOP PHILIPPINE EPIDEMICS

(By the Associated Press)
MANILA, Oct. 29.—Eradication of all dangerous epidemics in the Philippine Islands, organization of an efficient commissioned personnel, and survey of malaria and hookworm infested areas preliminary to campaigns carried out with the cooperation of the Rockefeller Foundation, were the outstanding achievements of the insular health service during last year, according to the annual report of the director of health.

Invaluable knowledge as to the extent of malaria and hookworm was made available for health workers through the survey of conditions in several portions of the islands initiated by the Rockefeller Foundation, the report says, thus making it much easier for the service to draft plans for combating the two diseases.

The general birth rate during 1922 increased, while the death rate became lower. The better showing is attributed to the general improvement in sanitary conditions in most parts of the islands.

With reference to the anti-typhoid and smallpox vaccinations which are being given by health officers from time to time, it is declared that from the results obtained, there is evidence that immunity from typhoid and small pox on the part of a large number of the people during 1922 was due to inoculations.

WITCHES, CATS, TRICKSY SPRITES, RIOT ON HALLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en is one of the merriest of the festive days. Witches, hobgoblins and all manner of tricksy sprites are abroad to perform mischievous tricks. The hostess may let her fancy run riot in the decoration of her house and the entertainment of her guests. Black and yellow are the official colors (if one may be allowed the expression). Candles lend a dim and ghostly light to the scene and the guests, clothed as ghosts or in other weird costumes, may pop corn, duck for apples, listen to phost stories or have their fortunes told. No prank is too spooky (within reason of course) to play at the Hallowe'en party.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

State Schools to Have Programs of Interest During Period.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 31.—American Education Week, to be observed in Oklahoma for the fourth consecutive year, will be marked by special programs in public schools throughout the state, according to preliminary plans being made by five state and national organizations.

Proclamations by mayors of different cities, public discussions by ministers of all denominations, public meetings and theatre and newspaper publicity are among the considerations which are being forwarded for observance during the week.

Each day of the week has been designed for particular observation along an exclusive line and slogans fitting the designations will be posted in store windows. Merchants will be asked to adopt appropriate displays during the week and to advertise American Education Week on their letter heads and envelopes.

The State Department of Education, the Oklahoma Education Association and the state department of the American Legion are the state bodies fostering the week's observance. National agencies behind the movement include the National Education Association and the United States Bureau of Education.

The week officially extends from November 18 to 24. The opening day being Sunday, ministers are asked to deliver either a morning or evening discussion on the education week observance. The day has been designated as "For God and country."

Other days of the week are, in the order of their observance, "American constitution day," "patriotism day," "school and teacher day," "illiteracy day," "community day" and "physical education day." On the five school days of the week, slogans urging "Visit the schools today" will be posted conspicuously in windows and elsewhere. It is planned, "God and country" day will have as a special slogan "A Godly nation cannot fail"; "constitution" day "Ballots not bullets"; "patriotism" day "America first"; "school and teacher" day "better trained and better paid teachers; more adequate buildings"; "illiteracy day" "No illiteracy by 1927—it can be done"; "community" day "An equal chance for all children. A square deal for the country boy and girl, and "physical education" day "A sick body makes a sick animal. Playgrounds in every community. Athletes all."

WOMEN STORM MEXICAN JAIL LIBERATE FOUR PRISONERS

(By the Associated Press)
PUEBLA, Mex.—Sixty women, armed with pistols and knives, recently stormed the jail at Alajalan, according to advices received here, and liberated three women and one man, incidentally wounding the mayor and clerk of the court. The four were imprisoned because they protested against the action of the mayor in cornering the town's water supply and selling it at exorbitant prices.

Towering Skyscrapers of Big Cities Shrink When Cold Weather Works

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Towering steel structures in New York will be approximately one and a half inches shorter this winter than they were in August. The shrinkage of the skyscrapers will not be noticeable to Gothamites, nor to the residents of other cities where the change already is taking place, but to the structural and technical engineers of steel the fact will be known in figures.

A study made by the building planning service of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, covering thermal effects upon buildings, made public here, shows that the Woolworth building, the Metropolitan tower and the Equitable building, among New York's highest structures, will have been shortened from one and two-tenths to one and a half inches.

The figures were arrived at by calculating the expansion and contraction of steel according to the formula familiar in every physics laboratory. The construction and expansion of steel for each Fahrenheit degree change in temperature is only .00000677 inches, but when this figure is multiplied by 9110 inches in the Woolworth building (not counting the basement and sub-basements) it is shown that each degree change makes a difference of .061 inches in the structure. With the Metropolitan building's 8400 inches, each degree change makes a difference of .0568 inches and with the 7200 inches in the Equitable building (counting from the sub-basements to the roof) the difference for each degree of change is .0487 inches.

According to the estimate of Clarence T. Coley, operating manager of the Equitable building and former president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, the probable limit of temperature change is about 25 degrees.

"Because of the expanding and contracting of the steel in high buildings it is important that the mass of the building be kept as near a uniform temperature as possible, to prevent the steel from contracting and expanding within minimum limits," said Mr. Coley. "The limits are probably 85 degrees on the hottest summer day and 68 degrees on a cold winter's day, where the building is adequately heated."

"Should the buildings be allowed to cool off on Sundays and holidays to a temperature of 40 or 50 degrees it can be seen that the contraction would be much more marked and the bulging off of plaster would be excessive. Generally it can be assumed that the temperature variation in the buildings is about 25 degrees. In a building such as the Equitable which is 600 feet from the roof to the sub-basement, the expansion between 60 and 85 degrees would be 1.2 inches, which variation must be followed by the brick work, plaster, verticle piping, elevator guide rails, etc."

In June, 1914, average weekly earnings of factory workers in New York were $12.70. In January, 1923, they were $26.21.

THEME OF "NOTORIETY" BIGGEST THEME OF ALL

Will Night's Latest Photoplay Deals With the Danger of Success.

When picture patrons see the latest masterpiece of Director Will Night when it opens at the McSwain theatre Thursday, they will have something to think about. Their ideas on one of the big questions of life may experience a rude shock, but after it is all over, they will probably agree that Night's presentation of human ambition in "Notoriety" is the naked truth after all.

In a fearless photodrama that covers the pathos of poverty and the dazzle of wealth, the master motion picture director lays bare the secret ambition of the average human being, lets it develop before our eyes, and shows us that it has as many dangers as delights. That secret ambition that rules the highest and humblest, is of course, the desire for success. At first glance, this universal goal seems to be a noble and natural one. Deep in our hearts every one of us is urged to shine in one field or another. Despite dreary disappointment, we all keep fighting on, hoping some day to achieve our aim. Some may look for fame in business, some go to the stage for glory, others seek their ideal in a happy home. "Pig-eon" Deering the girl heroine of "Notoriety" sought success in popularity. She yearned for fame. Realizing that she had no chance to attract attention by her merits, she thought she could win popularity by participating in a society scandal. At first her ambition for fame seemed to be realized. Her name and picture appeared in print, and

A Lot of Excitement!

CHILDREN become excited and play very hard at their games. They spend great energy. And parents should see that they get that energy back—in thoroughly nourishing food.

One of the most highly nutritive elements in food is Dextrose. In fact, you could not live long without it. It supplies most of the energy and stamina to the blood and tissue cells.

Because Karo contains such a large percentage of Dextrose it is one of the most important foods for children. Serve them plenty of Karo, either Blue Label or Red Label and see how they thrive on it!

THE starch and sugar in all food you eat—bread, vegetables, potatoes—must be changed into Dextrose before your system can use it as an energy food.

FREE—A booklet about Dextrose every mother should read. Explains why children thrive on Dextrose. Sent free with beautifully illustrated 64 page Cook Book. Write Wallace McVay Brokerage Co., Oklahoma City, Okla.
